REPORT OF SCHOOL BOARD

To the School Board and Citizens of Stoddard,—

I submit my first annual report as Superintendent of Schools. I will first make brief mention of the educational program in the state and the new school law which went into effect September 1, 1919, and then call attention to some of the most important needs and problems that require your immediate attention and action.

In his address at the School Board Conference in Concord last October, Governor Bartlett said, among other things: "To equalize school opportunities, and then to raise that equalized level, has been the thought uppermost in my mind in recommending and stimulating a revision of the school laws The sunlight of education must shadow no dark spots. It must shine with equal cheer and clearness in the poor kitchens under the far-off hills as in the rich and affluent centers."

The purpose of the new law is to make such equalization effective. By this law an organization is provided which is to administer the school affairs of the state on ordinary business principles. State-wide supervision is made compulsory, and provision is made for standardizing all the schools of the state. A standard school is defined as "one (1) maintained for at least thirty-six weeks in each year, (2) in a suitable and sanitary building, (3) equipped with approved furniture, books, maps and other necessary appliances, (4) taught by an approved teacher, (5) directed and supervised by an approved superintendent, (6) with suitable provision for the health and physical welfare of the pupils." The law also provides for state aid to towns in which a tax of $5 on $1000 of valuation does not yield sufficient money for maintaining such standard schools.

Such powers are given the State Board and its officers as are necessary to secure a degree of uniformity in procedure and in standards that will insure equality of opportunity to all the children in the state, and the duties of the superintendents in directing and supervising the work of the schools are defined; but the management of all school business in the districts is vested in the local school boards, with power to select the superintendent, teachers and other employees of the district, and to determine their salaries.

Among the requirements for a standard school, noted above, the fourth is now the most difficult to meet throughout the state, because of the shortage of teachers. Reliable information shows us that some twenty-two per cent of the teachers of the country have quit teaching in the past year. While there are many causes for this condition it is generally agreed that the chief reason is inadequate pay, and any measures that may be taken to recruit teachers, especially for the rural districts, will fail unless considerably increased wages are paid. I do not mean to imply that we should appropriate more money for teachers' salaries and then pay it to incompetent or poorly trained teachers, but we must be ready to pay the price when good teachers can be secured. If the district at its March meeting will vote an amount of money sufficient to cover a substantial increase in teachers' salaries the school board will then be in a position to retain good teachers longer, and to take advantage of the first opportunity to secure well trained and competent teachers when changes have to be made.

Next to the need for increased salaries for good teachers, the most important problem is that of making the school buildings "suitable and sanitary." In preparing the budgets to be submitted at the March school meeting, we shall need to make a careful estimate of the cost of such alterations as may be needed to make the schoolhouses conform to the requirements prescribed by the State Board of Education. These alterations cannot be stated in full detail until the Board issues the revised and final regulations, but we know that among the requirements will be the following:

1. Provision for windows on the pupils' left hand, or left and rear, only; and in area equal to at least one-fifth of the floor area of the school room; walls and ceilings painted or tinted a light color; and light colored curtains.

2. A jacketed heater with some provisions for drawing fresh air from outside, and means of securing good ventilation without direct drafts on the pupils.

3. Floors put in good condition and oiled or treated in some other manner to keep down the dust.

4. New or remodeled outhouses opening from the school room, or at least from within the school building, and not opening from outside, with properly ventilated, fly-proof vaults and covered seats.

5. Good furniture and equipment.

6. Better facilities for washing, with soap and sanitary towels.

The school buildings in Stoddard do not at all meet the requirements numbered 1, 2, 3, and 6, and only fairly well that numbered 5. The outhouse at the Village school is properly constructed and in fair condition, except that it should have a good vault and better seats. The outhouse at the South school is entirely inadequate. If the South school house is to be used longer it should be remodeled, like the Village building, so as to meet the requirements, but since the distance from the Village is not great and the road is good it would probably be far better to consolidate the two schools and transport the children from the South part of the town than to try to maintain the two schools, at least while there is such a scarcity of teachers.

The South school has been open only for two short periods this year, and then with substitutes only, and there is no prospect at this writing that a teacher can be secured. You are fortunate in having in your midst a woman who has had experience in teaching and who is willing and able to take the Village school at this time. Hers is the sort of practical patriotism that should be, and I doubt not is, much appreciated by you; and if her work is successful, as it promised to be, it should be recognized in such a way as to make it worth her while to continue the work.

In conclusion let me say, that, while it is most important to have good teachers, the early provision for the improvements and alterations that the regulations of the State Board call for, giving better sanitary conditions and more cheerful surroundings, will aid the teacher greatly in so moulding the character of the boys and girls as to produce better citizens. The state has committed itself to a program of education that is bound to have far reaching results in training our future citizens, and we must all stand behind it loyally and earnestly.

I have been greatly helped by the earnest cooperation of your School Board and, while frequent meetings have not been necessary, I have been made to feel their earnestness in carrying on the work of the school and this has made the performance of my duties pleasant.

Respectfully,

VERNON S. AMES.
